“She really got a lot out of therapy and all the therapists really helped her and improved her confidence in herself after the stroke.”

FRANCIS

Francis came to Morning Breeze for outpatient rehab following hospitalization for a stroke. When we first met Francis, she had difficulties with balance, fine motor movements, cognitive impairments, attention, and language difficulties.

With the help of the therapy team, Francis was able to make improvements with balance, memory, conversation tasks, attention, and fine motor movements. She is now walking with no assisted device, driving and communicating with peers and friends with no difficulties.

Most importantly, she is back to one of her favorite hobbies - painting for hours on end - something she was unable to do after the stroke.

Her improvements have allowed her to return back to her many hobbies she enjoyed after retirement from DCMH hospital including; dog grooming, painting, and cooking for friends and family. Francis and her husband Tim were so pleased with the progress she made during her time with Morning Breeze outpatient rehab for Occupational therapy and Speech Therapy.
