

EXCEPTIONAL LIVING CENTERS

Meet Angie

My name is Angie Sutton and I am the Senior Vice President of Operations at Exceptional Living Centers. My career in healthcare began when I became an activities volunteer when I was 15 years old. The entire leadership team took me under their wing throughout my high school career offering me opportunities to develop my skill set in multiple departments including activities, social services, dietary, marketing and human resources.

ELC has provided a venue of a very personalized approach to the management of centers. With a very flat organizational structure, there are opportunities to interface with key executives on a daily basis just by picking up the phone or stopping in the home office.

Healthcare has endless opportunities. I do not know of another profession where so many diverse career paths can be realized "under one roof" all while being able to touch lives through compassionate care and service. Whether your interests lie in technology, culinary arts, nursing, maintenance services, financial management or customer service, our profession is a one stop shop.

When you choose a career in healthcare, you get up each day and know that no day will be the same all while diligently caring for those in need.
